SCHOOL REPORT.

As we look back over the year, and sum up the amount of work accomplished, while there are many things left undone, on the whole the advancement has been all that could be expected.

To always have excellent teachers in all the schools is something that has never been accomplished in the eyes of the people, and when the teachers' efforts are encouraged by the personal interest of the parents, better work is accomplished. Parents can certainly furnish their children with a liberal education, and besides the many little offices they can perform at home to encourage them in the somewhat wearisome duty of continual study, they should frequently visit the school-room.

The board respectfully requests that the parents show more interest in the school's welfare by urging more punctual attendance on the part of the children, also by friendly suggestions as to the best methods of improvement. The combined influences of home and school are necessary to obtain good results.

Some changes in the books now in use we think would be beneficial; a change in the reading books is needed.

We earnestly hope that all will work together with one end only in view, the improvement of our public school system on which depends to a great extent our physical, moral, and intellectual prosperity.

LIBRARIAN'S REPORT.

To the Board of Trustees of the Public Library:

The general work of the library has gone on in much the same manner as usual. There have been no new volumes added either by gift or purchase; one volume is unfit for use and should be rebound. The number of new borrowers is 18; entire number of people holding library cards, 122; average number of books loaned per library day, 3 2-9; largest number of books given out any one day, 12; smallest number, 1; whole number of books in library (exclusive of government and state reports and pamphlets) 256. Received during year for fines, 70 cents.

We do not think of any great advancement, but we feel sure the library holds its position, and hope for new books the coming year, which will increase the interest among the readers.

Respectfully submitted
MRS. LESLIE W. RICKER, Librarian.
